

Larry’s Lines...

The Best School

We are all concerned about our schools. We love our children and want them to grow up to be the right kind of citizens, neighbors and church members. And we depend upon the schools, the community and the church to see that this great work is accomplished. But mark it down that this goal will never be reached if the home abdicates its responsibility.

The best school any youngster ever has should be the home. Never doubt that some kind of education is being woven into the very fabric of childhood, and some color is being given to the whole texture of the child’s life in the home, whether we are aware of it or not. The knowledge one gains from the university may fade from recollection, but the simple lessons impressed upon the heart of a child at home will defy the years.

Many years ago, in His infinite wisdom, God commanded parents: “These commandments which I give you this day are to be kept in your heart; you shall repeat them to your sons, and speak of them indoors and out of doors, when you lie down and when you rise. Bind them as a sign on the hand and wear them as a phylactery on the forehead; write them upon the door post of your houses and on your gates.”(Deuteronomy 6:6-9)

Take pains in the home to educate your children to love the good and true. And remember that every word spoken within the hearing of little children, and every action observed tends toward the formation of their character.

In our concern over schools, let us not ignore the one over which we have control-the home.

Have a Great Week,
Larry
