

Body and Soul

Everybody wants to “Live.” But most stumble blindly along, never quite able to discover the way. For all such weary pilgrims, Jesus opens up a revelation of truth and thought when He said that, “Man shall not live by bread alone.” For man, you see, is both body and soul. Made of the dust, he is flesh and bone; made in the image of God, he is soul and spirit. So to really live...One must understand the reality and the demands of both body and soul.

The staff of life is graciously given by God. Yet many remain half-starved and unsatisfied. Why? It is because they are trying to live by bread alone, and forgetting that somehow the soul must also be sustained. For unless a man’s spiritual wants supplied, he can hardly be said to “Live.” Life is too great a thing, too divine a gift, to be sustained wholly by bread alone.

Jesus tells us that man lives “by every word that comes from the mouth of God” (Matthew 4:4).

Yet it almost seems as if, for many, that Bible reading and study have become a thing of the past. Some are so busily engaged in reading the newspapers and watching TV or on the computer, that we seldom pick up a copy of the Bible as did our grandparents. But man is body and soul. That is why we are starving to death.

If man were nothing more than body, then bread alone would satisfy. But man is body and soul. And neither one can live without nourishment.

Have A Great Week
Larry
